Article I: Name

This organization, herein referred to as the Senate or Staff Senate, shall be officially known as the Western Kentucky University Staff Senate or WKU Staff Senate, interchangeably.

Article II: Purpose

The purpose of Staff Senate is to solicit and express the opinions, suggestions, and recommendations of staff on all matters of concern to the various staff constituencies and to staff as a whole. The Senate shall identify issues and/or policies brought before the Senate and will collectively seek resolution. For issues that need resolution from a higher level, the Senate will make recommendations concerning these matters to the appropriate individual(s). Likewise, the Senate shall seek representation in all aspects of WKU governance.

The Senate's mission is to enhance the productivity potential and employment experience of every Western Kentucky University staff member.

Article III: Representation

The Department of Human Resources classifies all WKU positions according to categories defined by the Employer Information Report of the Equal Employment Opportunities (EEO) Commission. The Department of Human Resources assigns the following codes to the EEO categories:

Code	EEO Category
1	Executive/Administrative
2	Faculty
3	Professional Non-Faculty
4	Clerical/Secretary
5	Technical/Paraprofessional
6	Skilled Crafts
7	Service/Maintenance

The Staff Senate represents all current Western Kentucky University staff members belonging to EEO categories 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7. The Senate does not represent any WKU employee belonging only to EEO category 2 (Faculty).

Article IV: Membership

Section I: Composition

The voting body of the Senate will consist of elected and non-elected members called representatives. There are three types of representatives: constituency, at-large, and regional. Descriptions of these types and the constituencies represented are set forth in the Bylaws. Included in the Senate membership are also a limited number of ex-officio members with no voting privileges, as set forth in the Bylaws.

Section II: Eligibility

Representatives of the Senate, appointees, and individuals seeking election to the Senate must meet the criteria for representation in Article III. In addition, individuals seeking membership must be employed by WKU for a minimum of one year prior to an election. The current Staff Regent is not eligible to serve as an elected representative.

Section III: Term

A constituency or regional representative's term lasts for two years, beginning at his/her induction at the June meeting (or a subsequent meeting following a delayed or special appointment or election) and ending at the commencement of the June meeting in his/her second year, regardless of the month in which his/her term began. An at-large representative's term lasts for one year, beginning at his/her induction at the June meeting (or a subsequent meeting following a delayed or special election) and ending at the commencement of the next June meeting, regardless of the month in which his/her term began.

No representative may serve for more than six consecutive years. Representatives in their fifth or sixth years may not seek re-election or appointment to the Senate. After an individual sits out for one year, the individual is again eligible for election/appointment.

Section IV: Elections

The date, frequency, and manner of elections for representatives shall be designated in the Staff Senate Bylaws.

Section V: Termination

A representative's term or seat on the Senate is vacated on the same day that the representative becomes ineligible for membership. Any representative may also be terminated by a majority vote of the Senate. Any committee memberships or offices held by a terminated representative are also vacated immediately.

Article V: Offices

Section I: Elected Offices

There shall exist seven elected offices within the Staff Senate. These offices shall be called Chair, Vice-Chair, Secretary, Treasurer, Technology Officer, Communications Officer, and Parliamentarian. The duties of each office are set forth in the Bylaws of the Staff Senate.

Section II: Eligibility

All members duly elected or appointed to the Staff Senate shall be eligible for election to offices.

Section III: Election

Officers are elected by a majority vote of the current voting members of the Staff Senate.

Section IV: Term of Office

Officers of the Staff Senate shall be elected annually to serve in the manner described in the Bylaws of the Staff Senate. Officers are elected by the Senate members at the June meeting, and their terms last for one year, from one June meeting until the next.

Section V: Limitation

No member shall hold more than one elected office at any time.

Article VI: Meetings

Section I: Frequency

The Senate shall hold at least one regular meeting per month. Meeting times and other details are described in the Bylaws of the Staff Senate. Meetings may be cancelled or delayed for lack of quorum (Article VII, Section II).

Section II: Location

All regular meetings will be held in a public location to be determined by the Senate.

Article VII: Voting

Section I: Limitations

Each Senate representative shall have one vote only. Ex-officio members do not vote.

Section II: Quorum

A quorum for conducting the business of any meeting of the Staff Senate shall be two-thirds of the current representatives. Vacancies (unfilled seats) and ex-officio members are not considered for quorum.

Section III: Roll Call Votes

A roll call vote may be called at the discretion of the Chair and shall be called upon request of a representative. A roll call vote shall be called automatically in case of a contested vote.

Section IV: Action by Consent

Any action required to be taken at a meeting of Staff Senate may be taken without such a meeting if consent in writing (e.g. email), setting forth the action, is provided by all representatives of the Staff Senate. Such consent shall have the same force and effect as a unanimous vote at a meeting of the Staff Senate. Such action will be recorded in the minutes of the next meeting.

Article VIII: Committees

Both standing and ad-hoc committees shall be established as described in the Bylaws.

Article IX: Amendments

Section I: Proposal

Any proposal to amend this Constitution shall be submitted by a petition signed by five representatives of the Staff Senate. Amendment proposals must be submitted to the Secretary of the Staff Senate for placement on the agenda of the next regular meeting according to the agenda limitations set forth in the Bylaws.

Section II: Passage

A proposal to amend this Constitution shall be voted upon during a regular meeting at which a quorum is present. The amended Constitution shall be considered ratified or adopted immediately upon an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the quorum. The Secretary will enter the approved changes along with the document's approval date. The updated Constitution will be promulgated by the Senate.

Section II: Passage	14

These Bylaws describe the specifics of the operation of the Western Kentucky University (WKU) Staff Senate, herein referred to as the Staff Senate or Senate.

Article I: Membership

Section I: Member Responsibilities

Staff Senate members are expected to:

1. Stay informed and represent the interests of their respective constituencies;
2. Participate in all votes except when there is a conflict-of-interest;
3. Support decisions of the Senate;
4. Regularly attend Senate meetings;
5. Serve on committees as needed.
6. Be visible and accessible to their constituency;
7. Maintain confidentiality regarding closed session meetings;
8. Make judgments on the basis of what is best for the University and higher education rather than to serve individual interests; and
9. Refrain from actions that might prove embarrassing for the Senate.

Failure to comply with these responsibilities may result in disciplinary action or termination.

Section II: Representatives

There are three types of Senate representatives:

Constituency Representatives

These representatives make up the majority of the Senate and are elected to represent a particular constituency of which they are members. There are six total constituencies from which representatives are elected:

1. Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional (EEO codes 1 and 3)
2. Part-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional (EEO codes 1 and 3)
3. Full-Time Clerical/Secretarial (EEO code 4)
4. Part-Time Clerical/Secretarial (EEO code 4)
5. Full-Time Technical/Skilled/Maintenance (EEO codes 5, 6, and 7)
6. Part-Time Technical/Skilled/Maintenance (EEO codes 5, 6, and 7)

The Department of Human Resources (HR) is responsible for classifying all WKU positions by EEO category (and code) and full-time or part-time status. To ensure equal representation of each EEO Category in the Staff Senate on a proportional basis with respect to its staff population, the number of constituency representatives on the Senate is determined by formula each year prior to the annual election.

The number of Constituency Representatives for each EEO category shall be held in proportion to the category's percentage of the WKU staff population. The number of Constituency Representatives for each EEO category is calculated by dividing the category's number of employees by the total number of WKU staff employees, multiplied by the minimum base number of WKU Staff Senators, and rounded to the nearest whole number. The minimum base number of WKU Staff Senators shall be 20, unless vacancies remain following the annual election. Each EEO category shall be allotted a minimum of one Constituency Representative.

To ensure equal representation of each EEO Category in the Staff Senate on a proportional basis with respect to its staff population the following formula shall be used:

- Base Number. The Minimum number of Senators is 20; therefore, the base number shall be 20.
- Minimum Entitlement. The minimum number of Staff Senators for each EEO category is one.

Example:

(FT Executive/Admin/Prof) Staff Count = 667

Total Staff Population = 1395

Multiplier: $667/1395 = .48$ (rounded to the nearest hundredth)

Then take the Base 20 and multiply by the multiplier for the EEO category (.48) and round the number to the nearest whole number $20 \times .48 = 10$ representatives for the FT Executive/Admin/Prof category.

Constituency	Size	Percentage	# of Reps
FT Executive/Admin/Prof	667	0.48	10
PT Executive/Admin/Prof	145	0.10	2
FT Sec/Clerical	220	0.16	3
PT Sec/Clerical	99	0.07	1
FT Tech/Skilled/Main	182	0.13	3
PT Tech/Skilled/Main	81	0.06	1
Total Constituency Representatives			20

Total Staff Members 1394

The minimum number of Staff Senate representatives is 20. However, the seats may be increase to more than 20 if rounding to each whole increases the count or adding a seat to ensure minimum entitlement for each EEO category is reached.

At-large Representatives

At-large representatives are elected to fill vacancies created by a shortage of nominees in any of the constituencies described above. At-large representatives can come from any constituency.

The number of at-large representatives is determined during an election. The number of at-large representatives is equal to the total number of vacancies that cannot be filled by eligible nominees in each of the constituencies due to a shortage of candidates.

An example of this calculation is illustrated in the section of these Bylaws regarding elections. If, during an annual election, there is a surplus of first-year representatives in a constituency (who will continue onto the new senate in their second year), then some of those representatives will convert to at-large. This number is equal to the amount that their constituency is over-represented. If there were not available at-large vacancies in the election to hold the surplus representatives, then the Senate will simply be oversized in the upcoming year – containing all of the elected candidates in their constituencies plus the “extra” at large representatives from the surplus.

Regional Representatives

WKU Staff Senate’s Regional representative is named by the Director for Regional Campuses. Regional Representatives can come from any constituency. The Director for Regional Campuses will name one representative to represent all regional campuses. The Regional Representative is to be selected from one of the following campus locations:

- Elizabethtown/Ft. Knox
- Glasgow
- Owensboro

Section III: Ex-Officio Members

Ex-officio members do not vote and are not considered for quorum, but they may attend any public or closed session meeting as required.

The following are ex-officio members of the Senate:

- The current Staff Regent.
- The Past-Chair of the Staff Senate, if he/she is not a current representative.

Section IV: Termination and Vacancies

Vacancies occur when an elected representative's term ends, or when the representative is terminated as described in the Constitution. Senators should make every effort to attend each meeting. A written warning may be issued to the Senate member by the Chair after two consecutive absences. Written notification of dismissal will be submitted to the Senate member by the Staff Senate Chair.

At the discretion of the Chair, vacancies that occur between annual elections may be filled by the runners-up within the same constituency from the most recent election, or if not applicable, by the next runner up from the pool of at-large candidates in the most recent election. Vacancies may also remain unfilled, or a special election may be held to fill them.

Any constituency representative who no longer represents the original constituency in which he/she was elected (due to an employment change) will convert to at-large members whose term expires at the June meeting following the change.

A Regional Representative who no longer represents the region from which he/she was appointed (due to an employment change or otherwise) will be considered terminated. Terminated Regional Representatives will have a replacement immediately appointed by the Director for Regional Campuses.

Article II: Elections

Section I: Responsibility

Staff Senate elections shall be the responsibility of the Senate Vice-Chair, and the Senate Chair will resolve any disputes.

Section II: Frequency and Time

Staff Senate elections shall be conducted annually. The annual election shall be held prior to the June meeting (June retreat) of the Senate. At the discretion of the Senate, additional elections may be held at other times in the year to fill vacancies.

Section III: Process

All elections must follow the following process:

Nominations

Nominations are the first step in any election. At least one week prior to the deadline for nominations, an email must be sent to all staff containing:

- A copy of the nomination form.
- The nomination deadline (date and time).
- The date of the election.
- Instructions on how and where to properly submit the nomination.

Any staff member may nominate any number of other eligible staff members. An eligible staff member may also nominate himself/herself. Employees may only be nominated to represent their own constituency. To be eligible for an election, a completed nomination form for each nominee must be received by the Senate by the deadline announced to all staff during the election process. Incomplete or late nomination forms will be considered invalid.

All nominees should receive confirmation of the receipt of their nomination and information regarding the guidelines for campaigning. All nomination periods should remain open for at least one week, unless the Senate declares by vote that there must be an accelerated election due to some emergency. Upon the close of any nomination period, a full list of nominees must be sent to all staff by email before the date of the election.

Elections

All Senate elections should be conducted online via TopNet. All staff are permitted to vote for representatives in every constituency and may cast multiple votes up to the number of open seats in each constituency. Similarly, all staff may cast votes for at-large candidates up to the number open seats. The winning candidate(s) in each constituency shall be the candidate(s) receiving the highest vote total(s). In the event of a tie, the Senate Chair will attempt to resolve the tie through an at-large candidate appointment of one or more of the candidates (pending available at-large seats), or a run-off election may be used to break the tie.

In the event that not enough qualified individuals are nominated for election to one or more vacancies in any constituency, each vacancy will be filled by an at-large candidate who receives the highest number of votes in the at-large portion of the ballot and did not also win a seat in his/her constituency. If there are not enough candidates on the ballot to fill all available vacancies, the vacancies may remain unfilled, or the Senate may run a special election to fill them.

Section IV: An Illustration

Given that the number of representative seats on the Senate is determined by formula, and the number of at-large representatives is determined by vacancies of those seats, the following example was created to provide further clarity by illustrating the process of an election.

Example

In a given May, the Senate must count the number of constituency representatives that will remain with the Senate after its annual election. Put another way, the number of representatives in their first year of their terms who will continue into their second year must be determined. Assume that the following table represents the representatives who will remain with the Senate following this example election:

Constituency	Representatives in Their First Year
Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional	5
Part-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional	1
Full-Time Clerical/Secretarial	1
Part-Time Clerical/Secretarial	0
Full-Time Technical/Skilled/Maintenance	1
Part-Time Technical/Skilled/Maintenance	0

The Senate learns from an official report that the current (May) population of the staff is as follows:

EEO Category	Full Time Count	Part Time Count
1	110	0
3	620	740
4	320	80
5	100	360
7	70	30

The Senate then adds together the counts in the various EEO categories that make up each constituency and then applies the formula to each constituency to determine the number of representatives in each. The following table shows that calculation:

Constituency	Population	Multiplier	Number of Seats
Full-Time Exec/Admin/Prof (EEO 1+3)	730	.012	9

Part-Time Exec/Admin/Prof (EEO 1+3)	740	.006	4
Full-Time Clerical/Secretarial (EEO 4)	320	.012	4
Part-Time Clerical/Secretarial (EEO 4)	80	.006	0
Full-Time Tech/Skilled/Maint (EEO 5+6+7)	270	.012	3
Part-Time Tech/Skilled/Maint (EEO 5+6+7)	390	.006	2
Total Number of Constituency Representative Seats			19

Now that the number of constituency representatives has been determined in each constituency, the number of vacancies in each constituency can be determined for the election.

This is done by subtracting the number of first-year representatives in that constituency from the number of seats in that constituency. The following table illustrates that process:

Constituency	Total Seats	Occupied Seats	Vacancies
Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional	9	5	4
Part-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional	4	1	3
Full-Time Clerical/Secretarial	3	1	3
Part-Time Clerical/Secretarial	0	0	0
Full-Time Technical/Skilled/Maintenance	3	1	2
Part-Time Technical/Skilled/Maintenance	2	0	2

Now the Senate is prepared to make the call for nominations. The Senate announces the number of vacancies in each constituency, and reminds staff that nominees are needed even in constituencies with no vacancies, because these nominees may be elected as at-large representatives. The Senate then waits for the nomination period to close and tallies the nominations in each constituency. This information is used to determine the number of vacancies that must be filled by at-large nominees.

The following table shows the nominations and the calculation of the number of at-large representatives:

Constituency	Vacancies	Nominees	At Large
Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional	4	8	0
Part-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional	3	1	2
Full-Time Clerical/Secretarial	3	1	2
Part-Time Clerical/Secretarial	0	1	0
Full-Time Technical/Skilled/Maintenance	2	2	0
Part-Time Technical/Skilled/Maintenance	2	0	2

Total At-Large Representatives	6

In this scenario, there are not enough nominees to fill the vacancies in all but the Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional constituency. So, the nominees in the other four constituencies with vacancies automatically win those seats and occupy those vacancies, and there is no reason to have them on the ballot. The ballot will show only the races for Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional and at-large. Voters will vote for two candidates in Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional and five candidates in at-large to fill the vacancies.

The candidate pool in Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional consists of the eight nominees in that constituency. The at-large candidate pool always includes all of the nominees in the constituencies where there were more nominees than vacancies. So, in this scenario, there are nine candidates who appear on the ballot in the at-large race, eight from Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional and one from Part-Time Clerical/Secretarial. Because two of the nominees in Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional will be elected in their constituency, the winners in the at-large race are the five highest vote-getters from the seven who did not win other elections.

As another example, if there had been somewhere between three and six nominees, inclusive, in Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional (rather than eight), then it would still have been necessary to run the election to fill the vacancies in Full-Time Executive/Administrative/Professional and at-large because those who win seats in their own constituencies will serve longer terms. Finally, suppose that instead of vacancies in every constituency, there had been a surplus of first-year representatives in a constituency due to a drastic reduction in the size of the constituency. The number of these representatives who are in excess of the number of representatives that should represent that constituency in the new Senate will be considered at-large in the new Senate and will reduce the number of available at-large seats in the election.

It does not matter which of the first-year representatives in the affected constituency are considered at-large, because they are all serving their second year in the new Senate, and their term will expire anyway. Further, pretend there is both a surplus of representatives in a constituency and a large number of nominees in every category, such that there will not be at-large seats available that year. In that case, the surplus representatives continue onto the new Senate, which will be oversized for one year, and the ballot will show the constituency races but no at-large race.
